Chatime franchise application form indonesia

Since the introduction of tea in traditional environments in China, the soothing drink has evolved throughout its consumption from country to country. Tea has a variety of health benefits to it as well as being a good healthy alternative to coffee for a good pick-me-up! As we all know, the Filipino people love to embrace the cultures of other countries especially when it comes to their cuisine. Such a Chinese food would be tea, which often it is difficult to find a refreshing drink that is not water. As such, tea has become something completely different called bubble tea, a fusion of either milk or tea (even both!) and heaped by tapioca balls we often call pearls. They have become popular ever since their introduction that they enjoyed outside Asia as well, as they turn out to be in the United States and throughout the world. One such company specializing bubble tea is Chatime, a decade-old company that serves tapioca pearl shakes that has seen stores all over the world. If you are interested in franchising a bubble tea company, it would definitely be good for you to check out Chatime as you read below! Update: Chatime is not looking for franchisees at the moment. The history of Chatime Chatime was founded by Henry Wang Yao-Hui a decade ago, in 2005 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. Chatime is under the parent company, La Kaffa Coffee. Under this company, Henry Wang aims to modernize the usual tradition of tea making culture, by making tea machines that can consistently produce quality and refreshing bubble teas using an assortment of fruit and toppings. He chose to do this so that he can stand out and differentiate Chatime among his competitors in the bubble tea market. Chatime had an advantage in that it owned a tea plantation in Nantou, Taiwan which meant that they could save more money. In just a year after opening, Chatime was able to open its first international outlet in California in 2006, then Australia in 2009, where it has over 40 stores. Although bubble tea turned out to be loved by the former to places, it was in Malaysia when it was founded in 2010, that it became a trend as Malaysia has 50% of Chatime's global revenue. Chatime would then continue to open stores globally, popping up in the Philippines and then London. With the celebration of their 100th store in 2013 in Malaysia, they plan to expand further more up to 250 stores in 3 to 5 years, or at least by 2018. Currently, its newly opened location is in Ontario, Canada. With its vision of consistent taste worldwide, and being a supplier for the health conscious, it has been one of the best companies for bubble tea. They are also a supporter of environmental health, as their vision involves going green by using environmentally friendly materials.
